“ I think about you every day. Some days are harder than others. Some days I feel like I can't breathe. Thank you for opening up a new world for me. You loved me boundlessly despite my flaws. You always stood up for me when people judged me based on my race or sexual orientation. Even though you were half my size and mass you had a fire in your eyes. We had so many hopes and dreams we built together during our time in college. I'm still trying every day to make those come true because I want to make you proud. It's a lot harder now that you're gone. I hope wherever you are now, you know that I will always love you.

“ My heart is breaking, even still. Demi was such an awesome friend. Full of life and was down to earth. She was real and possessed real talent. You are truly missed. I remember a time, Vanessa, Demi and I snuck out during our freshman year and went to a party and walked all the way across town to go through the McDonald's drive through for some food and wasn't served because we weren't in a car. We walked all the way back to her place chilled after...that night was by far one of the more thrilling nights I've ever experienced, and one for the books! A young life, full of potential and such a kind spirit! <3 Missing you Demi! Love you girl!

“ Dear Mrs Hasik & Family, I remember Demi very fondly as a bright, outgoing, and spunky young girl from her days at Pershing Elementary. My heart is filled with sadness to hear of her passing.
God bless all of you who loved her.

Warmly, Margaret Mackey

“ My heart is filled with sadness and prayers for all the family. I only got to know Demi for a few short years of her life when she was a cute, bubbly bundle of joy while stationed in Germany with her parents. She grew up to be a beautiful woman who I'm sure blessed her family with so much joy and love. She will be missed by the many lives that she touched in her own amazing way. They will miss her energy, her laughter, her beauty and most of all her loving presence. All of that will still reside in their hearts with the many memories they share with her over the years. She watches now from Heaven knowing one day she will be reunited with all those she loves. God Bless..
