Very emotional to see such an amazing soul leave this earth. I worked with Mr. Johnson at a residential home for troubled teens and saw him all the time at Walmart. Such a warm personality, always smiling. You will be missed.

“ He was always respectful and kind whenever I saw him in the Walmart where he worked, saying hello and calling me "ma'am", and wishing me a good day on my way out. I will miss seeing him when I go there. I wish blessings upon his family and comfort in this time of sadness for them.

“ I wrote this tribute to Robert on Facebook 12/19.

Tonight, I lost someone I loved very much. A very kind, thoughtful, hardworking, Christian man, who became my friend a week after I got here. I had the high honor to live next door to him for 18 months. We became very close friends and remained that way, even though I moved 1/4 mile or so away.

You'll all know him as Bob, at Walmart. To me, he was always Robert. That was how he introduced himself and when I asked if he preferred to be called Robert or something else, he said, Robert. Robert, the entire region is going to miss your smiling, polite, friendly, caring person in Walmart. I am going to miss all that and more. I will miss your steadfast friendship, your loyalty, your always having my back, always there to lend a hand when I needed help. I will miss our wonderful conversations, your deep, pure laugh. The silly times we'd be falling over busting a gut at whatever one or the other of us said.

You were one of the angels God put me next to when I moved here. You always looked after me with the most unselfish love and care. I'll never forget how alone I felt those first few months after I got here and how scared I was to be so far from home and no idea where my life was going. You looked at me across the lawn separating us and said, 'God knows you're here and he knows your heart. He won't let you down Miss Gale. You just talk to him and open your heart to him like you've been doing and he'll get you where you need to get to. And you're not alone. I'm right here and I love you. I do Miss Gale. I love you. You're going to find your way and you'll be OK.

I always tried my best to pay you back for your many kindnesses in ways that I thought would have meaning to you. I had just asked you for your favorite Bible verse. That was my next gift to you. A scroll with the verse to hang on your wall.

John 10:27-28

*27 My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me:
28 And I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand.*

I was waiting for Sunday to call you and give it to you for Christmas. But my goodness, you skipped out on all of us and left us in shock and with aching hearts. I know you are in the arms of our Savior and you are now going to do the Lord's work with him. You worked so hard for all your life. You were an amazing friend and man. I will miss you with all my heart, always. I always made sure to tell you I loved you when I left you at Walmart or when we talked on the phone, or when we were visiting. You are now on your journey of eternal life. God Bless you, my friend. I love you.

“ *Bob was one of my neighbors & there wasn't a day that Bob wouldn't stop by & talk either on the way to work or coming home. He was a true friend & told it just like it was. “ The Character of Mr. Bob, to many if not all of us, has always been in demonstrating "Acts of Kindness," a Pro at greeting you with a smile and an inspirational word or two of hope that seem to land at just the right time to brighten our moment!

“ I just knew Bob from his job at Walmart. I never went there that I didn't seek him out to say hi. His radiant smile and his demeanor told me all I needed to know about him. I miss him like I would a family member. I have absolutely no doubt he is with Christ. Rarely will you ever meet someone who instantly you can feel a kinship with. He was that man.

“ Mr. Bob worked with the Daugherty Bowl's Strike Zone for a time and was very polite, professional and always smiling. A very wise man. When we lost him to Walmart I was saddened but knew they had gained a great person. I remember how he enjoyed working at Walmart as a door greeter and more. He was always cheerful and professional: Sam Walton would have loved him. Well now God has him in heaven and I'm sure he's enjoying Bob as much as we did. You will be missed Mr. Bob. 🥹
