

Theodore "Ted" Henry Carl Krueger Jr.

July 28, 1932 - November 14, 2023

Ted, Theodore Henry Carl Krueger, Jr., domiciled in the Ozark Highlands for the past decade passed away 14 November 2023 at the age of 91, after having a stroke. Ted passed surrounded by his paintings, at the home he shared with his 30-year Art Companion, Susan Armstrong Marino.

He leaves four children: Bill, Barbara, John, and Pete; daughter-in-law Yoko, son-in-law Haydon; and seven grandchildren: Celia, Emma, Matteo, Sophia, Oliver, Kris, Jesse; and his great-grandson Gavriel. He was divorced twice, to Susan Story, and Susan Macintosh.

Born and raised in Stratford, Connecticut, the son of Cecille and Theodore (deceased). Ted attended Hopkins, Swarthmore, University of Bridgeport, and Yale. Gifted in many areas, he became a lifelong artist, painter, sculptor, photographer, and woodcarver. He received his MFA from Yale School of Art and Architecture where he studied graphic design under Joseph Albers, and photography under Walker Evans.

Ted inherited the Seal Company, ran it, and successfully sold it. He then traveled to explore topics he was passionate about. These topics included pre-digital self-reliance, and their relation to art, invention, problem-solving, and strategic relocation. He supported his lifestyle by investing according to currency theory, following both macro and micro financial market trends, and at times visiting European currency professionals. He studied herbal medicine and healing in Brazil, the Philippines, and the United States, which led to his becoming a licensed acupuncturist in Santa Fe, New Mexico, in the 2005.

Perhaps influenced by his travels, Ted had a keen awareness of propaganda with the goal of uncovering the truth. He was deeply interested in the moral, economic, social, political, and cultural dimensions of freedom. More freedom has been linked to increased creativity and entrepreneurship, which was part of his family heritage. Law being central to local, national, and international liberty, as well as taxation, he was prepared to debate prevailing financial and cultural narratives lawfully. His written observations became 3 books. His paintings are copyrighted by The Library of Congress.

During years of intellectual search and research, Ted found calm in hiking and yoga. His photo hikes and trips later became inspirational for paintings. Progressively he grew toward spiritual faith. He pondered well the early childhood impressions and motivations of his peace seeking Quaker parents. He lived frugally and helped many people. Ted often read the Bible and faith-based books, prayed, make a public profession of faith, and attended Spanish Christian Lighthouse and First Baptist Church in Waynesville, Missouri. Ted was a good man, ahead of his time, and a great artist.

in 1996 myself and Philippino healer Placido had the pleasure of being guests of Ted in his awesome off-grid home in Silver City. Ted was a stimulating host and I learned much from him about finance, money systems, healing and a whole host of esoteric subjects. Ted was a true renaissance man.
